A WORD FROM US

As we enter another year our mission stays the same – to promote fair trade and work with marginalized producers and artisans to help them move from a position of vulnerability to economic self-sufficiency. We work to remain transparent about our process and strive to build long lasting relationships with artisans and clients alike. Without customers like you, we could not have done what we have for over 24 years.

We step away from last year with many lessons learned and insights gained. Artisans continued to work from home or their workshops - more diligently than ever despite occasional shortages in materials and restrictions to travel. Fair trade has allowed families to stick together; it provides time to take care of the family while earning a fair living wage. Artisanal products keep traditions alive, as well as preserve cultural heritages.

It bears repeating that we cannot do it without you, our customer. Thank you so much for supporting us, the artisans, and fair trade!

Luz was born on November 28, 1956 in Huancayo, Peru. She was the eldest daughter of eight siblings. As a young woman she traveled to Lima to study where she met her husband Antonio. Soon after, they married and had four children: Cristian (42), Sandra (39), Fiorella (30), and Leonardo (19).

The happy couple started their business in the 1980’s producing jewelry from silver and other metals. With her creativity and tenacity, Luz was always the brain and engine of this project with Antonio at her side.

Minga met Luz in Lima on a product development trip in 2008. Immediately a friendship was formed and a partnership created with her and her family.

Her daughter Fiorella recounts that her mother’s work was her passion. One of the things Luz most enjoyed was sitting down to design. It always put her in a good mood. Luz took pride in knowing that visitors and guests from around the world appreciated her creations.

In December of 2019, tragedy struck. A malignant tumor was detected in her brain and in March of 2020 she had an operation. At her request, Minga continued to place orders, as her work became her therapy. Her desire was for her children and employees to continue her work of providing stores with their fair trade jewelry. On June 8, 2020, she passed away working as a mentor until the last day.

Fiorella is determined to follow in her mother’s footsteps and continue our partnership. Minga staff in South America will remember Luz with gratitude, affection, and admiration. She was known for her honesty, humility, and hard work. She treated us like family and always made sure to spend time with us on each trip to Perú. Luz will leave behind a lasting legacy for her family and it was an honor and privilege working with her.

WHAT IS TAGUA?
Tagua is an ivory-like nut harvested from palm trees indigenous to the South American countryside. Your purchase is helping to protect the earth’s animals and environment.

TAGUA HELPS
- Discourage Poaching
  It provides an alternative to ivory, so the slaughter of elephants is reduced.
- Create Jobs
  Demand for hand crafted tagua provides much needed jobs for farmers and artisans.
- Prevent Deforestation
  Tagua products encourage the growth and maintenance of the Tagua Palm which encourages reforestation.

Tupac is a 36-year-old indigenous artisan from Ecuador. He learned his craft from his parents, who started their textile business in 1984. Tupac took over operations of the business ten years ago but still works with his mother and sisters. His goal is to improve quality and reduce production costs. To that end, he has invested in new machinery and created new designs. Tupac insists on using high quality leather and hand-woven materials in his designs. His products have been sold all over Ecuador, parts of Japan, Europe, Mexico, Canada, and in this catalog. See his Petite Crossbody Bag (above), Sonder Pouch/Clutch (right), Chumbi Coin Pouch (page 65), and Victoria Bag (page 67).

“With Fair Trade, We Can Sell More.”

“My father started making and selling hats when I was a small child. He learned by working with an experienced hat-maker and then branched out on his own. As children, we used to help with gluing the different parts of the hat together, and when we got older we helped with more difficult tasks.

When I was a young man, my family sent me to university to study business administration. I learned many useful things there. I got married and my wife, Fernanda, and I had two boys, now 16 and 18. We worked together as a good team but sadly, she died of leukemia nine years ago. She was only 29.

As the business has grown, we have added more workers. Currently we are a staff of six, including my mother and myself, two cousins, and two local employees. In the beginning, we made felted wool hats, as those were the most popular in our region. Now we make hats from leather and straw (commonly called Panama hats) as well. It took us a year to develop the leather hats to the quality that our customers wanted.

Working with fair trade companies like Minga Fair Trade Imports has given us access to a larger market where we can sell more. Plus, we get paid promptly. We export 60% of our production to other countries, like the USA, France, Chile, and England. The rest is sold all over Ecuador.”

The Hat Misnamed Around The World

Despite its name, the Panama Hat actually originated in Ecuador. The weaving of cotton hats began as early as the 1600’s, and the production grew through the 17th and 18th centuries. With the globalization brought by the Panama Canal, the hats were then exported widely and named for their main point of sale rather than for their country of origin. When you purchase a Panama Hat made in Ecuador, you are supporting an artisan and their traditional livelihood!

Luis and Maria are talented artisans who take pride in their work as well as the time they spend with their family. Speaking primarily Kichwa, they have faced difficulties marketing their products in the past. Since they began working with Minga Fair Trade Imports, they have received a steady flow of work knitting a wide variety of items (shown right). This work allows them to continue developing their talents, provide for their family, and work from home where they can take care of their daughters and granddaughters.

Small Safari Journal #99339
Lined. 5¾” x 3¼”. Made in Sri Lanka.
In Sri Lanka, there is an escalating problem known as the Human-Elephant Conflict. The competition for scarce land has raised tensions between the wildlife and humans. Now, rather than killing elephants as nuisances who eat their crops, farmers are learning that these gentle giants are worth far more alive. They turn the jungle vegetation into soft, durable fibers that are made into popular paper products. In the process, well paying jobs are created and everyone benefits.

Fortunato learned to play wind instruments at age 15, and at 23 he began to produce them. He learned how to cut caña and tune his instruments from musicians he met during his travels. Fortunato’s products are thoughtfully crafted through his lifetime of expertise. What he enjoys most about his work is creating and innovating, making new designs, and improving the quality of his instruments.

Palo Santo #99801
Min: 6
Made from a species of the Burseraceae family on the Pacific coast of South America. The smoke and oils obtained from the wood have been used by South American cultures for calming, healing, and therapeutic purposes, but is most commonly used to ward off mosquitoes. Made in Perú.

Palo Santo’s scientific name is bursera graveolens, which is classified by the International Union for Conservation of Nature as a species of least concern. Bursera graveolens is sometimes mistaken for another wood used for its scent and oils, bulnesia sarmientoi! This wood is threatened, but can be noted by its distinctly darker color.
Glass Incense Burner #97103

Visiting Aída

Aída is the skilled artisan behind our glass incense burners and other fine crafts and has been working with Minga Fair Trade for over 10 years. While Aída clearly takes pride in her work, her greatest pride has been seeing all 3 of her children earn college degrees. She relates “working with Minga allowed me to support my daughters to reach their academic goals.” Aída’s family recently celebrated a momentous occasion; her youngest daughter recently produced a documentary. And in the middle of the pandemic, she completed her thesis and graduated with a degree in cinematography. Minga feels privileged to have played a role in Aída’s accomplishments over many years.

She won’t stop now! Aída looks forward to using her time and talents to produce new designs of her popular earrings (page 24) and glass dishes (page 156).
